Increase in Tuition Kicks Off New Year

by Christopher Patton

Beginning in September, tuition for CTC students increased. For in-state students, tuition increased from $52 to $53 per credit hour. For out-of-state students tuition increased from $87 to $94 per credit hour.

William Dietzer, CTC Vice President of Finance, called the increase, "Very reasonable, considering the recent slow down in enrollment and Governor Voinovich's 10.5% across the board decrease in funding to state colleges and universities." Mr. Dietzer also noted that unlike most universities and colleges in the area, CTC hasn't increased tuition the past two years.

Mr. Dietzer doesn't think that Governor Voinovich's approval of a 9% total increase in tuition for state schools should affect CTC in the first half of the year, but he said that could change beginning in January 1993.

Despite the recent increase, Mr. Dietzer feels CTC is still very reasonable compared to most colleges and universities.

A few students share Mr. Dietzer's beliefs.

Damone Scott, a student in the Surgical Technology program, supports the increase. "If you follow what's going on at most colleges today, you expect costs to go up," said Scott.

Scott, who says he pays his own way through school, doesn't think the minimal increase will have too much effect on students. He feels that despite the increase CTC still provides a valuable, inexpensive education.

Dana Krug, student in the Technical Writing program, shares Mr. Scott's views.

"I feel that the increase may affect some students in the long run, but CTC is still the best deal," he said.

Krug said he is impressed by CTC's advanced technology and highly skilled staff, and he feels CTC is "worth every cent."

Business Division Faculty Member Dies

Joseph Keenan, a faculty member for the Automotive Service Management Technology, died unexpectedly on September 12.

Mr. Keenan, who was 68, had joined the college faculty in 1968. Before that, he taught in the college building for seven years, when the building was still occupied by Courter Technical High School.

Mr. Keenan had taught in the aviation program as well as the automotive program.

Student On-Campus Pay Goes Up

The CTC Board of Trustees has approved a pay increase for students who are employed by the College.

Starting in September, minimum pay is $5.75/hour for all student employees except engineering and scientific lab technicians.

Students who are re-hired as co-op employees of the College will receive a raise of 25 cents an hour, up to a maximum of $6.75/hour, each term they are re-hired, provided they work at least 30 hours a week.

Other student employees of the College (not earning co-op credit) are eligible for a 25 cents an hour raise after they complete two terms of work for the College.

For students who are employed as College engineering or scientific lab technicians, the new minimum pay is $6.25/hour, and the new maximum is $7.25/hour.

President Long to Meet with Students & Discuss Community College Questions

CTC President James P. Long has scheduled two open meetings for students who have questions about the recommendation that CTC should become part of a Cincinnati area community college.

Dr. Long will be in Room 363 (the Third Floor Conference Center) on Tuesday, October 6, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. to meet with evening students and part-time faculty members.

Dr. Long will be in Room 363 on Thursday, October 8, from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. to meet with day students.

On September 23, the CTC Board of Trustees appointed a committee of CTC representatives to study the recommendations made by the Ohio Board of Regents Managing for the Future Task Force Report.

Koko Breen, a Graphic Communications Technology major, is the student representative on the committee. Ms. Breen served on the College Long Range Planning Committee last year.

The Managing for the Future Task Force Report recommended creation of a Cincinnati community college district that would include CTC as well as the University of Cincinnati's Clermont, Raymond Walters, and University College campuses. The new community college would be independent from U.C.

Dr. Long said that the meetings on October 6 and 8 are open to all students. Also, discussion topics do not have to be limited to the community college issue.

Counseling Center Gives Workshops on Study Skills & Career Planning

The CTC Counseling Center is offering workshops on several topics this term. The programs are open to all, and there is no charge to attend.

On Tuesday, Sep. 29, a workshop on Time Management will be offered from 6:00 to 6:30 p.m. in Room 171 (inside the LRC). This session will cover how to organize your time, set priorities, and control procrastination and interruptions.

On Tuesday, Oct. 6, a workshop on Study Skills will be offered from 6:00 to 6:30 p.m. in Room

171. This workshop explains how to develop good study habits for improved personal performance.

On Wednesday, Oct. 21, a workshop on Using the "Discover" Computer System will be presented in the Cafeteria from 11:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. "Discover" is a computer-based career planning program that can help students learn more about themselves and their occupational choices. Counselors will be available to help students get a computer printout of information on careers.

Ohio Voters Can Register at CTC

Ohio voters can go to the CTC Registrar's Office on the third floor to register to vote.

To be eligible to vote on Nov. 3, Ohio voter registration forms must be received by the County Board of Elections no later than Oct. 5.

The last day for Ohio voters to register at CTC is Friday, Oct. 2.

Kentucky residents can call 1-800-92K-VOTE to get voting registration information.

Indiana residents must get in touch with their County Board of Elections to register.
