

Commencement Exercises

Saturday, June 25, 2005

10:00 a.m.

Cincinnati State Technical and Community College

America The Beautiful

O beautiful for spacious skies/For amber waves of grain.
For purple mountain majesties/Above the fruited plain.
America! America! God shed His grace on thee, and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.

O beautiful for patriot dream/That sees beyond the years.
Thine alabaster cities gleam/undimmed by human tears.
America! America! God shed His grace on thee,
and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.

A special "thank you" to the student honor escorts and ushers, the faculty and staff, and the 2005 Commencement Committee.
Water provided by Aramark and Pepsi Americas.

Music provided by Polished Brass.

House/Bruckmann Faculty Excellence Award Winners

Peggy Lepley and Geoffrey Woolf

Peggy Lepley is an instructor in the College's Biology Department and in her eleven years at Cincinnati State, she has left lasting impressions on her students and other faculty members. This is the second time Ms. Lepley has won this award.

Ms. Lepley designed and teaches all first-year biology courses. These courses are designed for non-science majors and science majors. Although she teaches to different types of students, she makes sure the experience is memorable and never boring. As one of her peers says, "I have seen the Biology laboratory experience go from simple, boxed kits to the highly visual, thought provoking, hands-on situations so necessary in the study of today's biological sciences. This is directly attributable to Peggy."

Because she encounters students with a wide variety of learning styles, she uses many different types of activities to meet their diverse needs. For example, a typical lecture period might include taking notes together on note-taking outlines she provides. She uses demonstrations such as "Dancing Slimer" or "The Green Jell-O Experiment" to illustrate a point, and then a hands-on activity related to the day's lecture topic, such as having the students use banana Runt's candy to simulate the properties of sickled blood cells, or cutting up an oven mitt to simulate the tissue layers within organs. She is constantly checking to make sure the students are grasping the course material.

In addition to teaching, Ms. Lepley has served on the Academic Technology Committee, Tenure and Sabbatical Committees, and Scholarship and Student Honors Committee. She also serves as a peer mentor for new faculty. She has developed extensive web sites for her classes, which include many multimedia activities.

Geoffrey Woolf, communication skills instructor in the Humanities Division, is known for reinventing literature courses each time he teaches one. As he says, "I never teach a course the same way twice. I never prep a course the same way twice. I let the students, the issues of the day, what I am currently reading, even the weather lead the way. No two classes are alike, and no two terms are alike. The only thing that remains a constant is where my students must 'arrive' by the end of the term."

Mr. Woolf developed a new Introduction to Literature course this year. This contribution led one of his colleagues to write, "... after teaching literature courses for several years, Geoff recognized the need for an Introduction to Literature course and took it upon himself to meet the need. The issue was that we had not created a course that would help students make the transition from various composition courses into our more traditional literature courses."

Students in Mr. Woolf's classes leave with more than a broad sense of types of literature. They develop critical thinking skills to evaluate what literature means. As one student wrote, "I have now discovered through this class several ways of approaching literature from various philosophies. I have not had the privilege of learning to understand all of the approaches; however, what I have learned has made for an interesting expedition into criticism, and I plan to continue applying these principles to future endeavors."

Mr. Woolf serves on the Academic Technology Committee and the Honors Experience Advisory Committee. His recent publications include When You're Not Here I Notice Things: Poems and poems in Hazmat Review.

2005 Distinguished Alumna Ruth Ann Spears '76

Ruth Ann was a member of the second class of the Ornamental Horticulture degree program, which has just celebrated its 30th anniversary. After graduation she literally worked her way from the ground up starting as a gardener with the Cincinnati Park Board. She advanced to become a greenhouse grower, and is now manager of one of the city's jewels- the Krohn Conservatory. She oversaw a $3 million remodeling project and, perhaps her best known accomplishment, founded the annual Krohn Conservatory butterfly show.

Now in its 10th year, this event brings 60,000 visitors to the indoor botanical garden, where they discover over 5,000 species of exotic plants, a five-story tall indoor rain forest complete with 20 foot waterfall, and the release of 10,000 butterflies, 1500 each week.

Ruth Ann has been honored as the City Parks Manager of the Year, spoken to the Park Board in Munich, Germany, and been interviewed for numerous radio and television broadcasts. She served on the board of the Ohio Florists Association as well as the Mathis Foundation, a foster child advocacy group. She is a tireless fundraiser, having brought the Krohn over $1.5 million in private contributions. She has also raised thousands of dollars for the children served by the Mathis Foundation.

She has served on the Cincinnati State Horticulture Program Advisory Board since 1999. Numerous graduates of the horticulture program work for her at the Conservatory.

In addition to her degree from Cincinnati State, Ruth Ann holds a B.A. in Business from Wilmington College.

Academic Dress

From the costumes worn in the academic procession one can tell the level of degree (associate's, bachelor's, master's, doctor's) the wearer has earned, the field of learning, and the institution that granted the degree. The costume consists of cap, gown and hood.

The usual cap is a square black mortarboard with a black tassel; the doctor's cap has a gold tassel. The gown is also normally black. Associate's, bachelor's and master's gowns are relatively plain and closed in front; the doctor's gown is cut fuller, is open in front, has velvet panels down the front, and has three velvet bars on the sleeves. The panels and bars are usually black.

The hood, patterned after the medieval monk's hood, goes over the shoulders and hangs down in back. The hoods for the three degrees vary in length from the bachelor's the shortest, to the doctor's the longest. The velvet border shows by its color the field of learning; the most common are: white - arts, letters, humanities (usually seen in honorary doctor's degrees); dark blue - philosophy (the most common in doctor's hoods); purple - law; scarlet - theology; green - medicine; golden yellow - science. The same colors may be used in the panels and bars of the gown. The most distinctive part of the costume is the silk lining of the hood which bears the official colors of the institution granting the degree.
